The New-York Times.

VOL. VII.....NO. 2101. NEW-YORK, MONDAY, JUNE 14, 1858. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Mr. WADE, of Ohio, made an ineffectual attempt to take up the Widows' Pension bill, and Mr. MALLORY, of Florida, an ineffectual attempt to take up the Florida Spanish war claims.

The bill for the relief of the captors of the brig Caledonia, in the war of 1812, was passed by 29 against 9.

The bill granting pensions to Mrs. GAINES and Mrs. JONES was reconsidered and divided into two bills, both of which were passed. Mrs. JONES is granted $30 a month during her widowhood, and Mrs. GAINES $50 a month during her life.

The House bill for the carriage of the mails from St. Joseph, Mo., to Placerville, Cal., passed by 29 against 17.

On motion of Mr. HUNTER, the Senate agreed to the report of the Conference Committee on the bill for the collection of the revenue, and the bill passed.

Mr. TOOMBS, from the Conference Committee on the Post-Office Appropriation bill, reported that the Committee had been unable to agree, and that the bill had been laid on the table in the House. He moved that the Senate adhere to its amendment.

Mr. STUART agreed with Mr. TOOMBS, and wanted to know whether the Senate really had any share in shaping the legislation of the country.

Mr. TOOMBS said they had not, and in his opinion did not deserve it.

The subject was then postponed.

The meaning of the above is that the House have refused to abolish the franking privilege for Representatives, but are quite willing that Senators should divest themselves of that right.

Mr. HUNTER moved to take up the Fifteen Million Loan bill, with the House amendment to make it twenty millions.

The motion was agreed to, and the bill passed as amended by 24 against 21.

HALF PAST ELEVEN P. M.

The spectators are thronging off rapidly, and no ladies are now present.

Senators seem tired and sleepy.

Several motions to adjourn have been made, the latest being negatived by 29 against 17.

HALF PAST TWELVE O'CLOCK.

Senators are considerably exercised respecting the pertinacity of the House in the matter of the Post-Office bill.

Mr. IVERSON raised his single voice in favor of the Senate according to the suggestions of the House.

Divers gentlemen were then anxious to adjourn.

Mr. BIGLER besought unanimous consent to introduce a joint resolution to extend the session, but five or six Senators promptly interposed "I object."

Mr. HUNTER moved that the Senate meet on Monday at 9 o'clock.

Mr. BROWN—I object.

A motion was then made to adjourn, when the Ayes and Nays being called, it was carried by Yeas, 23; Nays 21—consequently the Senate found itself unexpectedly adjourned till Monday at 11 o'clock, and this necessitates a prolongation of the session.

Mr. BIGLER's motion is to extend the session indefinitely.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 11.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. HARRIS, of Illinois, rose to a question of privilege, and called up the report of the Committee of Elections on the memorial of J. PINCKNEY WHITE, contesting the seat of Mr. HARRIS, of Maryland.

Mr. FENTON, of New-York, moved to suspend the rules, in order to take up the House bill providing for the settlement of the claims of officers and soldiers of the Revolutionary army, and for the widows and children of those who died in the service; and the yeas and nays having been ordered, the rules were not suspended—yeas 85, nays 77—two-thirds not voting affirmatively.

On motion of Mr. J. G. JONES, the House insisted upon its disagreeing vote on the Senate amendments to the Ocean Mail Steamer bill, the Navy bill, and the Supplemental Indian Appropriation bill, and agreed to the propositions for Committees of Conference thereon.

Mr. HARRIS, of Illinois, rose to a question of privilege, and again called up the Maryland contested election case. But for the opposition it had met, he thought the case might by this time have been disposed of.

The yeas and nays were ordered on the motion to postpone, and resulted—yeas 96, nays 81. So the subject was postponed until the second Monday in December next.

Mr. J. G. JONES, of Pennsylvania, reported back from the Committee of Ways and Means the Senate amendments to the bill making appropriations for the service of the Post-Office Department for the next fiscal year, and the bill making appropriations for the expenses of collecting the revenue from customs, which were referred to the Committee of the Whole, and made the special order therein.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, (Mr. HOPKINS, of Virginia, in the chair,) and took up the Senate amendments to the Post-Office Appropriation bill.

The first amendment, which establishes the office of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General at a salary of $3,000 a year, was discussed at length, and finally agreed to—Yeas, 73; Nays, 56.

The second amendment, which revives an act allowing a small extra compensation to the officers of the Washington City Post-Office, on account of public documents, was rejected.

The third amendment, allowing the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General a messenger at $840 a year, was agreed to.

The four-h amendment, directing the Secretary of the Navy to pay E. K. COLLINS and his associates certain sums deducted from their compensation on account of the slow trips of the steamer Ericsson, gave rise to a long debate, pending which the Committee rose.

After ten minutes after 4 o'clock the House took a recess until 6 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The House was called to order shortly after 6 o'clock.

Mr. PHELPS, of Missouri, reported from the Committee of Conference upon the disagreeing vote of the two Houses on the bill making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of government, that the Committee recommend that each branch make certain specified concessions.

The House concur in the amendment appropriating $3,000 for the improvement of Pennsylvania-avenue, in this city; in the appropriation for the Little Falls bridge; in the appropriation for the Washington Aqueduct, in the form in which it passed the Senate; in the appropriation for the completion of certain Custom-houses, with a proviso that except in the cases of the New-Orleans and Charleston Custom-Houses, the money shall not be expended until it is known that the buildings will be completed for the sums respectively appropriated; and also with an amendment reducing the appropriations $100,000 in each case for New-Orleans and Charleston; in the appropriations to pay the volunteers called out in Kansas by Gov. GEARY, and in the provision against obstructing the streets of Washington in certain cases.

The Senate recede from the appropriation of $7,000 for improving Judiciary-square in this city; $10,000 for planting trees on the mall; and $30,000 for an addition to the City Hall for a Court room.

Both branches agree to the amendment making an appropriation for the Capitol extension, as amended by the House, but with a slight modification; and to the amendment in relation to the continuation of the American State papers, as amended by the House.

There are several other modifications which are not of public importance.

Mr. JONES, of Tennessee, moved to lay the report on the table, preferring the defeat of the bill to its passage in this shape.

Mr. CLEMENS, of Virginia, called for the Yeas and Nays, which were ordered, and the motion to lay on the table was rejected—Yeas, 48; Nays, 109.

The yeas and nays were ordered on the report of the Committee of Conference, and it was agreed to—Yeas 82, nays 74.

The House went into Committee of the Whole, and resumed the consideration of the Senate amendments to the bill making appropriations for the service of the Post-Office Department.

The fourth amendment in relation to the Collins line of steamers was agreed on.

The fifth amendment, repealing the law requiring letters to be advertised in newspapers having the largest circulation, and providing that the advertisement shall be given to the papers which will insert it at the lowest rates, was agreed to.

The sixth amendment, limiting the salaries of special navy agents to $2,500, was agreed to.

The seventh amendment, providing that no arrangement shall be made by postmasters giving one class of persons greater facility in the delivery of letters and papers than others, was agreed to.

The eighth amendment, increasing the rates of letter postage after June 30, to five cents under three thousand miles, and ten cents for a greater distance, led to a protracted discussion.

Mr. TAYLOR, of New-York, moved to amend by providing that this increase shall only take place in the States where the postage is insufficient to pay the expenses of the service. It was disagreed to—yeas 71, nays 72.

The Senate amendment was then rejected—yeas 40, nays 96.

The ninth amendment, abolishing the franking privilege accorded to members of Congress, also led to discussion.

Mr. WINSLOW, of North Carolina, moved to amend so as to abolish the privilege only so far as relates to the Senate. Prevailed—yeas 82, nays not counted.

The House was still in session when we last heard from the Capitol.

SATURDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 12.

A message was received from the President, in which he says that it is his indispensable duty to call the attention of Congress to the condition of the Treasury. On the 19th of May the Secretary estimated that thirty-seven millions of dollars would probably be required for the two first quarters of the next fiscal year. This does not include such amounts as may be appropriated over and above the estimates then submitted, and the probable deficiency cannot be ascertained till the appropriation and private bills shall finally be passed. He recommends Congress to provide the necessary means before the adjournment. The failure to do so would be a disgrace which should not fall on the country. It will be impossible for him to ascertain the amount required before Monday next, it now being 11½ o'clock of Saturday. He repeats the statement in his annual message, and says he is determined to approve no bill which he has not deliberately examined, and that he will not depart from this, except in extreme cases. He asks a postponement for a brief period for the reasons stated, and says he will not detain Congress an hour beyond the time necessary to ascertain the total amount of the appropriations.

Mr. J. GLANCY JONES, of Pennsylvania, said the message was based on the supposition that the House will not finish action on the Appropriation bills till a late hour to-night. The Loan bill has been kept back from the consideration of the House for the simple purpose that the executive branch may ascertain from the outside estimates of the Secretary of the Navy what amount of money may be required. He (Mr. JONES) indicated the programme relative to the action on the pending measures by which the House could act on them intelligently by four o'clock, and adjourn on Monday next. On his motion the message was laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

The House then acted on the bill as returned from the Senate, with amendments making appropriations for the collection of the revenue.

Mr. BARKSDALE, of Mississippi, said the Committee on Foreign affairs were now ready to report the bill relative to British aggressions. His opinion was that Congress should not adjourn without taking measures to resent the aggressions on our rights.

Mr. SICKLES, of New York, was ready to report his bill, but the House would not consent at this time.

The House took up the Loan bill.

Mr. BURLINGAME, of Massachusetts, speaking on the subject of the British outrages in the Gulf of Mexico, said the Senate has acted, and the Representatives of the people should not remain silent. There could be no doubt of these outrages. There has been more than thirty of them within six weeks against the law of nations, as expounded by WEBSTER and CALHOUN, and decided by STORY and STOWELL. The doctrine was that on sea every nation was equal, and every flag which symbolized an honest nationality sacred. Pirates could be taken where found, but our people are not pirates, and therefore had been outraged. Those who committed those outrages had orders, or they had not. It was an act of war. If not, they were robbers. The Administration said wait and negotiate. There was nothing to negotiate. It would cast doubt on our courage and our cause. If we sunk the ships or brought them into port, it would be no cause of war. England should thank us for vindicating the law. The Administration, he feared, was not up to the mark. It was "fifty-four forty or fight," and then back down over and over again. He saw this in the President's answer to the call of the House; in the letter from Secretary CASS to Mr. DALLAS; in the orders to the Gulf squadron—as those in the Walker case, under which CHATARD was recalled for not doing what PAULDING was condemned for doing in the same waters; in the resolutions of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which were pointless and aimless; and above all, in the request for power to attack the Central American States. Why not ask for power against England? Why not use that already possessed? If there was power to use the marines to shoot down citizens in Washington, was there not power against a foreign foe? If WALKER could be taken in Nicaragua, could not an enemy who invaded our soil? He said the President had used his power to trample down the rights of American citizens at home, but had not strained it to protect them from a foreign foe. Our people were jealous of power, but would grant every dime and every man to vindicate the honor of the country. The foreign policy of the country was weak and vacillating. Everybody insulted us. He referred to numerous instances of this, and pointed out the course of France in Central America. He said our agents had been such as make weak Governments hate and strong ones despise us. The time has arrived for us to manifest our power.

Mr. KUNKEL of Maryland, inquired whether Mr. BURLINGAME would plunge the country into a war, whether England authorized those acts or not?

Mr. BURLINGAME replied that the course he advocated was the way to preserve the peace and honor of the country. We want no war, but we want no insults. If England meant to search, she meant war. We never would submit to that. The question rested with her, and not with us. He admired her courage and exulted in her renown.

Mr. J. GLANCY JONES said, as Mr. BURLINGAME had made a war speech he expected him to respond to all the claims for expenses. After referring to the figures and giving a minute account of the condition of the Treasury, he remarked that it was a species of filibustering to attempt a financial reform during the expiring hours of this session. Let it be commenced at the next. He would hold himself ready to vote for war supplies whenever he thought the honor of the country demanded them; and would, at once, afford every means to vindicate the American flag on every sea. The gentleman from Massachusetts had blamed the President for not getting up a war, when it was not in his power to make war, and gentlemen would not vote to give him that power. Mr. JONES said this bill could go to the Senate, and after the amount required should be figured up, that in the bill could be increased accordingly, and the House could afterwards act on it.

Mr. SICKELS said if the policy Mr. BURLINGAME proposed was carried out, $100 000,000 would be required. The gentleman's (BURLINGAME's) remarks were equally divided between shots hurled at the Administration and laurels laid at Great Britain's feet. The gentleman complained that while the President and Congress recommended the proceeding against Paraguay, nothing was done in regard to the insults received from England. He (SICKELS) would remind him (BURLINGAME) that while he voted for the expedition against Paraguay he has not voted for any of the appropriations which would enable the President successfully to take a stand against British visitation and search. The Administration has done its whole duty. It has not gone to war, for it has no authority under the Constitution to do so. Congress has not delegated any portion of its authority on the question, but the President has promptly called on the British Government to disavow the acts of its squadron in the Gulf. We are waiting now for a response to the demand, and the Secretary of the Navy has sent a fleet into the Gulf strong enough to drive the British squadron from those waters. In case the British persist, our forces there are under orders to protect, at all hazards, American vessels from this species of outrage. The Secretary of State, with his usual ability and statesmanlike attitude, has been sending to all portions of the country, for official information in regard to every outrage by the British cruisers, and has promptly dispatched the official accounts of the visitations of American vessels to London, requiring an explanation and disavowal of the same. Not a word had been said about negotiation, as asserted by Mr. BURLINGAME, and protection of our ships is the order given to the squadron in the Gulf. This attitude of the President should be steadfastly adhered to by the President.

Mr. BLAIR, of Missouri, inquired whether it was not on the invitation of the Secretary of State that the British operations against the Slave-trade on the African Coast were transferred from that continent to this?

Mr. SICKLES replied—Not in any sense of the word.

Mr. BLAIR remarked then he was much mistaken in his reading of the correspondence between the Secretary of State and British Government.

The Light-House Appropriation bill was then taken up.

Mr. COMINS, (of Massachusetts,) during his remarks said, with the establishment of the Lighthouse Board in 1852, two new impulses were given to this branch of the public service. The United States may well take pride in being among the first of the maritime nations of the world in establishing a free system of lighthouse illuminations. He might be in fault, but in his judgment these appropriations were eminently in keeping with the principles upon which the institutions of our country are founded, and commended themselves to the patriotic and wise. They were in unison with the spirit of peace which he thought pervaded the people of Massachusetts. We want no war, but peace—not only at home, but throughout the world. While the honor of our country and country's flag must be maintained, it would be for others to calculate the material value of war. If, finally, war must come, let it not be upon our impulse, but upon the convictions of statesmen.

The House concurred in the report of the Conference Committee on the bill making an appropriation for the collection of the revenue.

Mr. PHILLIPS, of Pennsylvania, from the Conference Committee on the disagreeing votes on the Post-Office Appropriation bill, reported that they were unable to agree.

Mr. J. GLANCY JONES said that the Committee on Ways and Means reported the bill in the usual Appropriation bill. It passed the House in the precise form that it was reported, and was returned by the Senate loaded with amendments. Two Conference Committees had already been appointed, and his private information was that the two houses cannot agree.

On Mr. JONES' motion the bill was tabled, when he forthwith reported a copy of the original bill, and, under a suspension of the rules, it was passed without consideration and sent to the Senate.

The House agreed to all the Senate amendments to the Indian Deficiency bill, and increased the amount in the Loan bill to $20,000,000.

Mr. NICHOLS, of Ohio, from the Committee on Printing, reported a resolution to print 5,000 extra copies of the Coast Survey Report.

Mr. CLEMENS, amidst considerable confusion, denounced the effect of the resolution, as a gratuity to Mr. WENDELL.

Cries of "Order." "Order." "Order."

Mr. NICHOLS earnestly denied the charge, remarking that the resolution was predicated on the memorial of 50 or 60 ship-owners in New-York.

The resolution was then passed.

The House concurred in the report of the Conference Committee on the Ocean Mail bill. It contains a clause that it shall not be lawful for the Postmaster-General to make any steamship or other new contract to carry the mails on the sea for a longer period than two years, nor shall any other than inland and sea postage be paid on the mails so transported. The Postmaster-General is also authorized to cause the mails to be transported to any foreign ports by steamships, giving the vessels, if American, inland and sea postage, and if foreign, sea postage—preference being given to the former.

Shortly after midnight, several members raised the question that it was Sunday, when the House, having no particular business before it, adjourned.

Important Instructions to Minister Lamar, Relative to the Cass-Yrissari Treaty—The Interference of M. Belly—Difficult Position of the Government, &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 12, 1858.

The rejection of the Treaty for securing the Nicaragua Transit in American hands, through the exceedingly active operations of M. BELLY, has produced a very vivid impression upon Mr. BUCHANAN and the State Department. Instructions were sent by the last steamer, to Mr. LAMAR, to represent that this Government did not regard the action of President MADRIZ as conclusive, but expected the ratification and speedy return of the Treaty to the United States. He was further directed to inform the Executive of Nicaragua that the rights and advantages guaranteed to citizens of the United States, by the Government of Nicaragua, had neither lapsed nor been abrogate by the invasion and consequent wars of WILLIAM WALKER, but that they must and would be asserted and enforced. The Minister was directed to inform the Executive of Nicaragua that the United States could not regard, with indifference, the operations of the agents of any foreign Government directed to the end of getting possession of the Isthmus routes, but should protect the well-founded claims of Americans to an exclusive possession of those routes, according to the solemn engagements of Nicaragua.

This important paper is stated to have been sent by the steamer of the 8th inst, and it cannot fail to produce an effect favorable to American interests.

It will at once be seen, however, that this Government is placed in a difficult position by the recognition of President RIVAS and his generalissimo, WILLIAM WALKER, in May, 1856, which Administration decreed the abrogation of the contract held by the accessory Transit Company and robbed it of its property. If these acts were approved by the Administration of Gen. PIERCE, as undoubtedly they were, how can the next succeeding administration in the United States deny their validity? That is a question, however, for the diplomatic astuteness of Gen. CASS, who will doubtless prove himself equal to the occasion.

I am told that the President signified that unless the treaty, which is now considered suspended, be confirmed, he will proceed to occupy the two extremities of the Transit or the purpose of protecting the communication in such manner as is indicated in its provisions. A.

FROM UTAH.

Gov. Cumming's Official Account of his Reception at Salt Lake City.

Additional Intelligence from Utah—Reported Abandonment of Salt Lake City—Brigham Young at Provo City.

The following is Gov. CUMMING'S dispatch to the Secretary of State, narrating his experiences in Salt Lake City:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., May 2, 1858.

SIR: You are aware that my contemplated journey was postponed in consequence of the snow on the mountains, and in the cañons between Fort Bridger and this city. In accordance with the determination communicated in former notes, I left camp on the 5th and arrived here on the 12th ult.

Some of the incidents of my journey are related in the annexed note, addressed by me to Colonel A. S. JOHNSTON, on the 15th ult.:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., April 15, 1858.

SIR: I left camp on the 5th, en route to this city, in accordance with a determination communicated to you on the 3d inst., accompanied by Col. KANE as my guide, and two servants. Arriving in the vicinity of the spring, which is on this side of the "Quaking Asp" hill, after night, Indian camp fires were discerned on the rocks overhanging the valley. We proceeded to the spring, and, after disposing of the animals, retired from the trail beyond the mountain. We had reason to congratulate ourselves upon having taken this precaution, as we subsequently ascertained that the country lying between your outposts and the "Yellow" is infested by hostile renegades and outlaws from various tribes.

I was escorted from Bear River Valley to the Western end of Echo Cañon. The journey through the cañon being performed, for the most part, after night, it was about 11 o'clock P. M. when I arrived at Weber Station. I have been everywhere recognized as Governor of Utah; and, so far from having encountered insults or indignities, I am gratified in being able to state to you that, in passing through the settlements, I have been universally greeted with such respectful attentions as are due to the representative of the Executive authority of the United States in the Territory.

Near the Warm Springs, at the line dividing Great Salt Lake and Davis Counties, I was honored with a formal and respectful reception by many gentlemen, including the Mayor and other municipal officers of the city, and by them escorted to lodgings previously provided, the Mayor occupying a seat in my carriage.

Ex Governor BRIGHAM YOUNG paid me a call of ceremony as soon as I was sufficiently relieved from the fatigue of my mountain journey to receive company. In subsequent interviews with the Ex-Governor he has evinced a willingness to afford me every facility which I may require for the efficient performance of my Administrative duties. His course in this respect meets, I fancy, with the approval of a majority of this community. The Territorial seal, with other public property, has been tendered me by WILLIAM H. HOOPER, Esq., late Acting Secretary pro tem.

I have not yet examined the subject critically, but apprehend that the records of the United States Courts, Territorial Library, and other public property, remain unimpaired.

Having entered upon the performance of my official duties in this city, it is probable that I will be detained for some days in this part of the Territory.

I respectfully call your attention to a matter which demands our serious consideration. Many acts of depredation have been recently committed by Indians upon the property of the inhabitants—one in the immediate vicinity of this city. Believing that the Indians will endeavor to sell the stolen property at or near the camp, I herewith inclose the brand book (incomplete) and memoranda (in part) of stock lost by citizens of Utah since Feb. 25, 1856, and two letters addressed to me on the same subject by WM. H. HOOPER, Esq., late acting Secretary pro tem., which may enable you to secure the property and punish the thieves.

With feelings of profound regret I have learned that Agent HURT is charged with having incited to acts of hostility the Indians in Utah Valley. I hope that Agent HURT will be able to vindicate himself from the charges contained in the inclosed letter from WILLIAM H. HOOPER, late Secretary pro tem., yet they demand a thorough investigation.

I shall probably be compelled to make a requisition upon you for a sufficient force to chastise the Indians alluded to, since I desire to avoid being compelled to call out the militia for that purpose.

The gentlemen who are intrusted with this note, Mr. JOAB B. KIMBALL and Mr. FAT WORTHEN, are engaged in mercantile pursuits here, and are represented to be gentlemen of the highest respectability, and have no connection with the church here. Should you deem it advisable or necessary, you will please send any communication intended for me by them. I beg leave to commend them to your confidence and courtesy; they will probably return to the city in a few days. They are well known to Messrs. GILBERT, FREEY and BARR, with whom you will please communicate. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. CUMMING,
Governor of Utah Territory.

A. S. JOHNSON, Col. of Cavalry, commanding Army of Utah, Fort Scott, U. T.

The note omits to state that I met parties of armed men at Lost and Yellow creeks, as well as Echo Cañon. At every point, however, I was recognized as the Governor of Utah, and received with a military salute. When it was arranged with the Mormon officers in command of my escort that I should pass through Echo Cañon at night, I inferred that it was with the object of concealing the barricades and other defences. I was therefore agreeably surprised by an illumination in honor of me. The bonfires kindled by the soldiers from the base to the summits of the walls of the cañon completely illuminated the valley, and disclosed the snow-covered mountains which surrounded us. When I arrived at the next station I found the "emigrant road" over the "Big mountain" still impassable. I was able to make my way, however, down "Weber Cañon."

Since my arrival I have been employed in examining the records of the Supreme and District Courts, which I am now prepared to report as being perfect and unimpaired. This will doubtless be acceptable information to those who have entertained an impression to the contrary.

I have also examined the legislative records, and other books belonging to the office of the Secretary of State, which are in perfect preservation. The property return, though not made up in proper form, exhibits the public property for which W. H. HOOPER, late Secretary of State, is responsible. It is, in part, the same for which the estate of A. W. BABBITT is liable, that individual having died whilst in the office of Secretary of State for Utah.

I believe that the books and charts, stationery and other property, appertaining to the Surveyor-General's office, will, upon examination, be found in the proper place, except some instruments, which are supposed to have been disposed of by a person who was temporarily in charge of the office. I examined the property, but cannot verify the matter, in consequence of not having at my command a schedule or property return.

The condition of the large and valuable Territorial library has also commanded my attention, and I am pleased in being able to report that Mr. W. C. STAINES, the librarian, has kept the books and records in the most excellent condition. I will, at an early day, transmit a catalogue of this library, and schedules of the other public property, with certified copies of the records of the Supreme and District Courts, exhibiting the character and amount of the public business last transacted in them.

On the 31st instant I left Great Salt Lake City, and visited Tuilla and Rush Valleys, in the latter of which lies the military reserve selected by Colonel STEPTOE, and endeavored to trace the lines upon the ground from field-notes which are in the Surveyor-General's office. An accurate plat of the reserve, as it has been measured off, will be found accompanying a communication, which I shall address to the Secretary of War, upon this subject.

On the morning of the 24th instant, information was communicated to me that a number of persons who were desirous of leaving the Territory were unable to do so, and considered themselves to be unlawfully restrained of their liberty. However desirous of conciliating public opinion, I felt it incumbent upon me to adopt the most energetic measures to ascertain the truth or falsehood of this statement. Postponing, therefore, a journey of importance which I had in contemplation, to one of the settlements of Utah county, I caused public notice to be given immediately of my readiness to relieve all persons who were, or deemed themselves to be, aggrieved, and on the ensuing day, which was Sunday, requested the following notice to be read, in my presence, to the people at the Tabernacle:

NOTICE.

It has been reported to me that there are persons residing in this and in other parts of the Territory who are illegally restricted of their liberty. It is therefore proper that I should announce that I assume the protection of all such persons, if any there be, and request that they will communicate to me their names and places of residence, under seal, through Mr. FAT WORTHEN, or to me in person, during my stay in the City.

A. CUMMING, Governor of Utah Territory."

I have since kept my office open at all hours of the day and night, and have registered no less than 56 men, 36 women, and 71 children, as desirous of my protection and assistance in proceeding to the States. The large majority of these people are of English birth, and state that they leave the congregation from a desire to improve their circumstances, and realize elsewhere more money by their labor. Certain leading men among the Mormons have promised them flour, and to assist them in leaving the country.

My presence at the meeting in the Tabernacle will be remembered by me as an occasion of intense interest. Between three and four thousand persons were assembled for the purpose of public worship; the hall was crowded to overflowing; but the most profound quiet was observed when I appeared. President BRIGHAM YOUNG introduced me by name as the Governor of Utah, and I addressed the audience from "the stand." I informed them that I had come among them to vindicate the national sovereignty; that it was my duty to secure the supremacy of the Constitution and the laws; that I had taken my oath of office to exact an unconditional submission on their part to the dictates of the law. I was not interrupted. In a discourse of about thirty minutes' duration, I touched (as I thought best) boldly upon all the leading questions at issue between them and the general Government. I remembered that I had to deal with men embittered by the remembrance and recital of many real and imaginary wrongs, but did not think it wise to withhold from them the entire truth. They listened respectfully to all that I had to say—approvingly even, I fancied—when I explained to them what I intended should be the character of my administration. In fact, the whole manner of the people was calm, betokening no consciousness of having done wrong, but rather, as it were, indicating a conviction that they had done their duty to their religion and to their country. I have observed that the Mormons profess to view the Constitution as the work of inspired men, and respond with readiness to appeals for its support.

Thus the meeting might have ended. But, after closing my remarks, I rose and stated that I would be glad to hear from any who might be inclined to address me upon topics of interest to the community. This invitation brought forth in succession several speakers, who evidently exercised great influence over the masses of the people. They harangued on the subject of the assassination of JOSEPH SMITH, Jr., and his friends; the services rendered by a Mormon battalion to an ungrateful country; their suffering on "the plains" during their dreary pilgrimage to their mountain home, &c. The congregation became greatly excited, and joined the speakers in their intemperate remarks, exhibited more frenzy than I had expected to witness among a people who habitually exercise great self control. A speaker now represented the Federal Government as desirous of needlessly introducing the national troops into the Territory, "whether a necessity existed for their employment to support the authority of the civil officers or not;" and the wildest uproar ensued. I was fully confirmed in the opinion that this people, with their extraordinary religion and customs, would gladly encounter certain death rather than be taxed with a submission to the military power, which they considered to involve a loss of honor.

In my first address I had informed them that they were entitled to a trial by their peers; that I had no intention of stationing the army in immediate contact with their settlements, and that the military posse would not be resorted to until further means of arrest had been tried and failed. I found the greatest difficulty in explaining these points, so great was the excitement. Eventually, however, the efforts of BRIGHAM YOUNG were successful in calming the tumult and restoring order, before the adjournment of the meeting. It is proper that I should add that more than one speaker has since expressed his regret at having been betrayed into intemperance of language in my presence.

The President and the American people will learn with gratification the auspicious issue of our difficulties here. I regret the necessity which compels me to mingle with my congratulations the announcement of a fact which will occasion grave concern.

The people, including the inhabitants of this city, are moving from every settlement in the northern part of the Territory. The roads are everywhere filled with wagons loaded with provisions and household furniture, the women and children, often without shoes or hats, driving their flocks they know not where. They seem not only resigned, but cheerful, to the call of "the Lord," and their rejoice to exchange the comforts of home for the trials of the wilderness. Their ultimate destination is not, I apprehend, definitely fixed upon. "Going south" seems sufficiently definite for most of them, but many believe that their ultimate destination is Sonora.

YOUNG, KIMBALL and most of the influential men have left their commodious mansions, without apparent regret, to lengthen the long train of wanderers. The masses everywhere announce to me that the torch will be applied to every house, indiscriminately, throughout the country, so soon as the troops attempt to cross the mountains. I shall follow these people, and endeavor to rally them. Numbers whom I have met appear to be in dread of the Indians, whom the infatuated condition of the whites has encouraged to commit extensive depredations. I may at least quiet the apprehensions of these persons, and induce some of them to return.

Our military force could overwhelm most of these poor people, involving men, women and children in a common fate; but there are among the Mormons many brave men, accustomed to arms and horses; men who would fight desperately as guerrillas, and, if the settlements are destroyed, will subject the country to an expensive and protracted war, without any compensating results. They will, I am sure, submit to trial by their peers, but they will not brook the idea of trials by "juries composed of teamsters and followers of the camp," nor of an army encamped in their cities or dense settlements.

I have adopted means to recall the few remaining Mormons in arms who have not yet, it is said, complied with my request to withdraw from the cañons and Eastern frontier. I have also taken measures to protect the buildings which have been vacated in the Northern settlements. I am sanguine that I will save a great part of the valuable improvements there.

I shall leave this city for the South to-morrow. After I have finished my business there, I shall return as soon as possible to the army, to complete the arrangements which will enable me before long, I trust, to announce that the road between California and Missouri may be traveled with perfect security by teams and emigrants of every description.

I shall restrain all operations of the military for the present, which will probably enable me to receive from the President additional instructions, if he deems it necessary to give them.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. CUMMING, Governor of Utah.

Hon. LEWIS CASS, Secretary of State, Washington City, D. C.

Additional News from Utah.

By way of California we have intelligence from Utah, but not of so late dates as the news contained in our special dispatches, published in the TIMES of Saturday.

The San Francisco papers had received tidings from Salt Lake City, purporting to have come direct by private hand, to the effect that the Mormons had begun to evacuate the Territory; that BRIGHAM had retired to Provo city, a point 50 miles distant from Salt Lake City; that the Mormons were eagerly offering their stock for sale, and other rumors of similar character. This news is only partially confirmed by the later accounts received here.

The following, from the Sacramento Union, had just been received by telegraph from Placerville:

By the arrival here May 9 of Mr. KNIGHT, Superintendent of the Placerville and Carson Valley Stage Company, we are in receipt of important intelligence from Salt Lake and the Utah army. He reports the arrival at Genoa, May 8, of a company of 42 men, who belong to Col. JOHNSTON's command in the capacity of carriers or teamsters, having had the privilege offered them of remaining with the army as regulars or be discharged at Fort Bridger. They accepted the latter and have come through safe. The advance of this party, Mr. KNIGHT passed at Cottage Rock. They will arrive here this evening. From John McCUSH, one of the party, we learn that they were discharged April 15, and received their pay and immediately left for Salt Lake City, where they purchased animals for their trip to California, and left Salt Lake April 19. McCUSH's statement is as follows, in reference to matters in general:

"On April 1, Col JOHNSTON sent a courier to Salt Lake, informing them that he should take up his line of March for that city immediately on his return of the express. The reception of this news caused great excitement throughout the city. BRIGHAM immediately ordered a carriage to be sent to Fort Bridger, to bring Governor CUMMING and suite, welcoming them to Salt Lake City. Young, at the same time, issued a proclamation to all the Saints to evacuate the holy city, and take up their line of march south. At this order, the Saints rebelled, declaring that they would not leave until they had first laid the city in ashes. BRIGHAM then commanded them to leave immediately, taking what they could carry, leaving untouched what they could not take. This last order (they obeyed; and when this party arrived at the city, one-half had already left, and others were leaving in scores, as fast as possible. In the city, all was bustle and confusion. The Mormons were eager to sell their stock to the teamsters. All the party could learn was that a rendezvous would be formed in Iron county, preparatory to further movements to the south."

When this party left Salt Lake they were joined by over one hundred apostates, who, with hundreds of others, had the assurance given them that they could leave after settling their dues to the Church.

No reinforcements had arrived to Col. JOHNSTON, but HARNEY's command was expected daily.

This party had come through within 23 days to Genoa.

The Los Angelos Star says:

"Having visited San Bernardino during the past week, we had an opportunity of conversing with [illegible] who had just arrived at that city from Salt Lake, and who assures us give authentic information of the proceedings there.

It is stated that there will be no fight between the United States troops and the Mormons. They have always been our own opinion. We supposed that the leaders of the Mormons were too wily and politic to risk a collision, well knowing that their undisciplined hordes could not withstand the attack of disciplined troops. While the army is in the canons and defiles of the mountains, a firm front with the sword, and every opposition will be thrown in the way of their progress. But as soon as they force the passes, all opposition will disappear, and the multitude will seek safety by flight. It is stated that the city will be laid in ruins, and if the army enter, they will find ashes for their reward.

We understand that considerable dissatisfaction exists among the people of Salt Lake City, in regard to the course of events there. Young feels that his hold on the masses is rapidly slackening, and hence he has had recourse to the old system of deceiving a "vision" commanding him to destroy the cities and occupy the southern settlements. The result of this movement will depend a good deal on the discipline of the army, which should be kept strictly within bounds, and forbidden to intermingle with the people of the cities. In this case, the predictions of YOUNG as to the conduct of the soldiery will be falsified, and it will be seen that the troops have come as friends, and not as the destructive and avenging enemy which they have been declared to be."

The editor of the Placerville Index has also Messrs. FULTON and SWINNEY, who were of the party from Salt Lake. FULTON says that the Mormons are temporarily removing into Iron County, in the extreme southern part of Deseret, but that their ultimate destination will be in some part of Sonora. Their mode of leaving the settlements is somewhat peculiar. All those living in the southern part of the Territory left first, in order that their vacant houses might serve as a shelter and resting-places for those who should follow from the north. In this way the evacuation commenced. The southern settlements were under way, and those of the north were rapidly assembling at Salt Lake City, for the purpose of following at the bid of their leaders.

FULTON and SWINNEY also say that the frightful massacre at Big Meadows last Fall, was undoubtedly the work of the Mormons. In fact they have frequently seen and conversed with one of the lads whom the Mormons purchased from the Indians, a sprightly American boy about twelve years of age, who persistently declares that he will swear a white man murdered his father at Big Meadows, and that he should know the man if he should ever see him again. About the 1st of January last, three Gentiles were killed by the Mormons near the town of Provo. The name of one of the party was PARKS RANEY, from Baltimore, Maryland; the names of the other two are unknown to our informants. One, however, was an Irishman, and the other a man from Iowa. The most diabolical part of this affair was, that after the men were murdered, their bodies were horribly mutilated, and their limbs cut off to bait wolf traps!

Another Gentile named BEN PHELPS, made up his mind to emigrate to California with his wife and children. Three days before the California party left, the Mormons drove off 26 of PHELPS' cows, together with two yoke of his oxen, and thus left a team to haul away his family.

Messrs. FULTON and SWINNEY further state, that agreeably to BRIGHAM YOUNG's orders, the Mormons cached or hid in the mountains large quantities of provisions, wheat and grain. It is not known precisely where these stores are to be hid, it is thought, somewhere in the neighborhood of the Walla Walla country. If there provisions can be found, they will be of great value to the incoming United States troops.

Another report has it that BRIGHAM YOUNG was at Provo, 40 miles this side of Salt Lake City. A grand council was to be held at Provo on the 6th ult., that being the anniversary of the commencement of Mormon worship in 1830. We understand that Capt. HUNT writes, that at the council the future policy and plans of the Saints will be determined.

AMASA LYMAN, one of the original purchasers of San Bernardino, with about 300 men, sanctified into small parties, left about the 1st ult., on a tour of exploration towards and into the Apache country.

BRIGHAM YOUNG had issued a circular to his people that they abstain from fighting the United States troops, and that they retire, as the army advances, to the south. He forbids his followers firing among the soldiers, and orders them to abandon all the invaded country. Salt Lake City is not to be destroyed, but given up to the use of the soldiers for a military post.

MONTHLY CHANGES IN BRIGHAM'S CREED—THE MORMON "DOWN" ON THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

We have received, by the Star of the West, full files of the Deseret News, but the paper is singularly barren of information in relation to Mormon movements. The News has published, every week, for years past, full reports of the discourses of BRIGHAM YOUNG and the Elders, as delivered in the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City. These publications have entirely ceased. The size of the News has also decreased one-half, and the Editor announces that the number printed has been materially lessened. These changes are probably the result of orders from head quarters. They are made silently, without explanation.

The following somewhat mysterious paragraph appears at the editorial head of the News of March 24:

"UNDIVULGED MOVE OF WARFARE.—At a Special Conference held in the Tabernacle of this city, on the 21st inst., it was unanimously agreed to abandon 'Sebastopol' to our enemies, without the consent of Lord Raglan, if they persist

From Our Own Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, May 30, 1858.

As things look just at present, I don't think I shall have a great deal to say myself on any subject worth writing about, and as there is not a scarcity of sensible correspondents, and as there is not a scarcity of events worth recording, I suppose I may as well be silent. The fact of the business is, I am comfortably fixed myself at present, and as I have a great deal of leisure, I am inclined to be lazy. I suppose there is no disguising the fact that I am in a measure influenced by the approach of the summer season, which always effects a languor in the system, and does the Bloomer ity and Chinese Assembly rooms, and the Jenny Lind Theatre, and the Opera House, and the Varieties, and the Adelphi, and the Bella Union, and the Eagle Saloon, and the Empire, and the Arcade, and the Melodeon, and the Hope Chapel, and the Academy of Music, and the Dramatic Museum, and the Lyceum, and the Gymnasium, and the Circus, and the Hippotheatron, and the Alhambra, and the Cosmopolitan, and the Mission Dolores, and the Happy Valley, and the Willows, and the Pavilion, and the Shell Mound, and the Fashion Course, and the Union Course, and the Pioneer Course, and the Lone Mountain Course, and the Ocean House, and the Willows, and the Mansion House, and the Russ House, and the Oriental, and the Bay View House, and the Niantic, and the Tehama House, and the Graham House, and the Cosmopolitan, and the Metropolitan, and the Empire
